

INSTRUCTION FOR FORWARD ASSETS SUPPORT TRAINING (FAST) OPERATIONS

AETCI 21-102, 12 May 1995 is supplemented as follows:

2. The Chief of Supply (COS) has elected to operate the Flight line and Propulsion forward Asset Support Training (FAST). The Flight Line FAST supports the T-37 and T-38 aircraft; the Propulsion FAST supports the J-69 and J-85 engines. Both FAST sections will store applicable expendable (XB3) assets as space permits and if the item is not on any bench stock. The COS has also opted to operate the repair cycle support function from the Flight line FAST. Serviceable due-in-from-maintenance engine parts stored in the Propulsion FAST and turned-in by the Propulsion Element will be processed by the Propulsion FAST.

2.1. Perform decentralized Demand Processing tasks in accordance with (IAW) AFM 67-1, Volume II, Part Two, Chapters 2, 11, and 27.

2.1.1. Process items record loads (FIL), with the exception of local purchase FILs that will be processed through the Base Demand Processing Element.

2.1.2. Process research by identifying requested items to a national stock number.

2.1.3. Maintain limited technical publications to research requests.

2.2. Perform warehouse functions IAW AFM 67-1, Volume II, Part Two, Chapter 14, DOD 4145.19-R-1, and AJMAN 23-210, Joint Services Manual for Storage and Material Handling.

3. Perform Mission Support Element duties in the FAST IAW AFM 67-1, Volume II, Part Two, Chapters 2,9,17,and Volume II, Part Nine and as follows:

3.1. Aircraft and Aerospace Ground Equipment Mission Capability (MICAP) conditions will be reported and monitored by the Flight line FAST.

3.2. Engine MICAP conditions will be reported and monitored by the Propulsion FAST.

3.3. Communications MICAP conditions will be reported and monitored by the Communications Support Element.

3.4. Both FAST operations will prepare weekly MICAP statistics for the supply maintenance meeting.

3.5. Perform Repair Cycle Support Element duties IAW AFM 67-1, Volume II, Part Two, Chapters 2, 17, and 24.

3.6. Perform the following duties IAW AFM 67-1, Volume II, Part Two, Chapter 9 and 12.
